Legislative: Right-to-Work Initiatives

Ballot language will be introduced to change the Ohio Constitution to eliminate closed union shops, in both private and public "Right-to-Work" initiatives. (Cont'd page 2.)

Administrative: Government Construction in the New Year

State and local government are announcing capital construction budgets as the new year begins. Ohio's General Assembly will pass a Capital Bill by June 30, 2018, to fund construction of state buildings and highways for the following two fiscal years. (Cont'd page 2.)

Judicial: Prime Contractor Insurance May Cover Subs

The Ohio Supreme Court accepted a discretionary appeal to consider whether an owner may look to the prime contractor's insurance for subcontractor workmanship defects. (Cont'd page 2.)

Legislative: Bills Carry Over to New Year

Legislation introduced in 2016 but not yet passed into law will remain in consideration during 2018, including numerous bills relating to the construction industry. (Cont'd p. 3.)

Administrative: OCILB Continues Enforcement

The Ohio Construction Industry Licensing Board cited sixteen trades contractors either for working without a license, or allowing unlicensed contractors to use another contractor's license. (Cont'd p. 5.)

Judicial: Unlicensed Plumber Cannot Prove Damages

An unlicensed plumbing contractor working on a residential project won a finding of contract breach by the homeowner, but no damages. (Cont'd p. 5.)

Legislative: Statistical Benchmarks

The Ohio General Assembly sent only 4% of bills introduced to the Governor for signature, introducing 692 bills during the first half of its biannual session. (Cont'd p. 5.)

Judicial: Supplier Must Sue in the Project County

A court has held that a construction materials supplier enters into a "construction contract" and therefore must bring suit for payment in the Ohio county where the project is located. (Cont'd p. 5.)

Legislative: Right-to-Work Initiatives (Cont'd)

State Representative John Becker (R, Cincinnati) will introduce six separate Constitutional amendments, which if passed by the General Assembly, will appear on the statewide ballot in 2018.

The proposed amendments include:

- Private-Sector Open Shop (“Right-to-Work”).
- Public-Sector Open Shop (“Right-to-Work”).
- Prevailing Wage Repeal.
- Union Dues deduction and political use prohibition.
- Project Labor Agreement prohibition.
- Union Re-certification annually.

Representative Becker has a business background, including a school district treasurer’s license. His stated interest in serving in the legislature is to repeal Ohio’s income tax.

The General Assembly will end its current session effectively on June 30, 2018, so as to allow legislators to return home for re-election campaigns. Therefore, this legislation must pass both House and Senate in the next six months.

Administrative: Government Construction in the New Year (Cont'd)

The Ohio Turnpike and Infrastructure Commission approved a capital budget of $121 million, which will include upgrading Customer Service Centers or plaza facilities. Detail can be found at:

Judicial: Prime Contractor Insurance May Cover Subs (Cont'd)

The Third District Court of Appeals for Hancock County found against a prime contractor’s comprehensive general liability (“CGL”) insurer, when an owner suffered water damage caused by faulty subcontractor workmanship.

This result is opposite recent Ohio Supreme Court precedent, which found that CGL coverage cannot be used for workmanship, as contractors’ business risks are not covered by insurance.

“The key issues are whether the contractor controlled the process leading to the damages and whether the damages were anticipated.” Westfield Ins. Co. v. Custom

Agri Sys., 133 Ohio St.3d 476, 2012-Ohio-4712.

In a significant departure from the standard, the Court of Appeals for Hancock County noted that the exception to that exclusion is when the work is performed by a subcontractor, causing property damage.

The insurer appealed, citing precedent that subcontractor workmanship defects are not unexpected occurrences, and therefore are not insurable.

The insurer argues that CGL policies are intended to insure the prime contractor for unforeseen injuries to third parties, but not intended to insure project parties from the prime's construction work.

A decision is expected to take at least six months.

Ohio Northern Univ. v. Charles Constr. Serv., Ohio Supreme Court Case no. 2017-Ohio-0514.

Registration (Bacon, R, Columbus) To require the registration of roofing contractors.

One hearing, sponsor testimony; appears stalled (see HB 164 above.)

Administrative: OCILB Continues Enforcement (Cont'd)

The Plumbing Section cited two unlicensed and one licensed contractors.

The Electrical Section cited six unlicensed and five licensed contractors.

The HVAC/Refrigeration Section cited one unlicensed and one licensed contractors.

The Board finds violating contractors often through referrals by other contractors.

While the Board has authority to penalize such violations, typically the Board works with the contractors to get them properly licensed.

Judicial: Unlicensed Plumber Cannot Prove Damages (Cont'd)

The plumbing contractor exceeded the construction schedule, but the court held that the homeowner allowed the contract to continue. The plumbing work failed inspection, but the court held that the contractor was entitled to payment for the work completed.

Since the homeowner stopped the work, the court found the homeowner in breach of contract.

Yet in the end, the contractor received no compensation, because the contractor could not offer clear evidence “as to how much of the work was completed.”

On appeal, the court affirmed the lower court decision, giving deference to evidentiary findings of firsthand observation by the judge.

Daniel v. Walder, 2nd Dist. Montgomery, 2017-Ohio-8914

Legislative: Statistical Benchmarks (Cont'd)

House members introduced 271 bills, while Senators introduced 241 bills, rather equal. But the House passed twice as many, or 99 bills, while the Senate only passed 50 bills.

The fastest legislation took 57 days to be signed. House Bill 11 (Rep. Scherer, R, Circleville) incorporated federal tax law into Ohio law, passing unanimously.

Only 80 bills (12%) included bipartisan support as introduced; none have made it to the Governor.

Judicial: Supplier Must Sue in the Project County (Cont'd)

In the case, a concrete supplier delivered concrete to a subcontractor. The owner paid the prime contractor, but the prime failed to pay the sub, which did not pay the supplier. The supplier tried to sue in its home headquarter county.

The court held that R.C. 4113.62(F)(5) applies, as the supplier delivered the concrete to the job site.

In the alternative, in a case involving multiple unpaid suppliers might be litigated in numerous counties at the same time.
